A Message From Our President

Dear Members:

We have had good meetings this fall with Dot Bunn presenting her color theory and our model session. Please do join us for George Thompson and an art sale on Nov. 17.

The League is sponsoring a docent tour of the Cezanne and the Modern Masterpieces of European Art at the Princeton University Art Museum on Friday, Nov. 20 at 11am. See the article below for details.

Our holiday party is Thursday, Dec. 10 at Pearl and Chuck Mintzer's home, 3720 Windy Bush Rd., New Hope at 6pm. We will be doing an art swap that night. We are providing canvases or mats for small artworks created by you, put in a gift bag and then swapped at the party, without knowing who made which creation. If you haven't gotten your canvas or mat, contact Diane DeAngelis, nhalartshow@gmail.com.

We have many opportunities for you to get more involved with your Art League. Please consider where you can help and contact us to find out more. The Nominating Committee, Cindy Roesinger (cindyroesinger@yahoo.com) and Diane Greenberg (dianegreenbergart@gmail.com), are working on getting candidates for the elected positions. Please use this opportunity to do a small part for the League.

Cheers, Donna Nhalpa@gmail.com

New Hope Art League Meeting & Event Details:

Tuesday, November 17
George Thompson

We are delighted that George Thompson has agreed to show us how to begin the painting process using only two paint colors. This is a technique that can be used no matter what medium you employ.

To begin a painting, George will demonstrate how to use a value scale thumbnail painting, using only black and white paint, to create a small preliminary painting. You will learn how to look at your photo, your scene, environment or location and translate that into the essential information that will create a painting. You will learn how to create abstract shapes which will convey value and composition. This technique is quick and so simple that you'll wonder how you ever started your art any other way!

Once you see this, and how easy it is to work out the proportions, values and composition, you will understand the value of this process. The next step is to do the same again in a limited palette of color. By the time you reach for the larger final canvas, all issues have been worked out and painting it will be a snap. Whether you use oil, acrylic, watercolor, pastel, pencils, graphite or paper, this can be applied to your medium.

You won't want to miss this opportunity to learn from an expert in our field.

Also, at the November meeting, there will be an art swap and sale.

Do you have frames or art books you don't want but that are in great condition?

Do you have art supplies of any kind that are collecting dust in your own home but might be just what someone else is looking for?

Do you have to scale back the clutter and sell mats, pencils, brushes (unused only, please), paints (clean and unused or gently used), pastels, accessories of any kind and for any medium?

Then this is the night for you! Sign up for a FREE table to use during our November meeting. The sale will take place after our speaker. You must have signed up for a table ahead of time to sell. Even if you don't want to sell, you can buy from anyone there. Bring your cash!

The Princeton University Art Museum to see: Cezanne and The Modern Masterpieces of European Art from the Pearlman Collection.

One of the finest collections of works to be held by a single family, the Henry and Rose Pearlman Collection has not toured in its entirety since 1974, when it was placed on long-term loan at the Princeton University Art Museum and where it has remained ever since. This major exhibition will present Impressionist and Post-Impressionist masterpieces from the Pearlman Collection and will feature paintings and sculptures by artists who were transformative members of the avant-garde of their day.

We have planned a docent tour for one hour. Afterwards, dine with NHAL members at The Alchemist and Barrister Restaurant. It should be a lovely day.

The museum is free, and the docent tour cost will be covered by the NHAL. Lunch is on you.
